

Online Inspiration

Great news! Did you know there are places you can find immediate inspiration online, anytime?

These handpicked resources are our favorites.

Resource	Description
What's Working	The Huffington Post has a section dedicated entirely to reporting news on what's going well in the world. These articles are written from a solutions-focused perspective. They highlight creativity, innovation, ingenuity, and compassion. You know, things the media usually overlooks.
How to Be a Good Mentor	TED Talks are famous for their inspirational messages. There are all kinds you can check out. The playlist "How to be a good mentor" is a great place to start.
Motivational Stories	A website called The Happy Manager compiles stories under this heading for you to use to inspire your team in specific situations.
Inspiring Sports Stories	Sometimes nothing is as inspirational as a sports story. The Huffington Post has put together a few of the best here.
The Best Inspiring Anecdotes of All Times	These short, inspiring stories draw from history.